

How does a city address food production?

Designing for Urban Agriculture Lecture Series

Carrot City & Food for Talk

Designing for agriculture at the city scale

location: Room 202 (The Pit) Architecture Building, 325 Church Street, Ryerson University]

[date: Friday 13 March, 11:30AM-1:30PM]

Carolyn Steel: A brief history of design for urban agriculture

Janine de la Salle: Southeast False Creek, Vancouver

Designing for agriculture at home and work

location: Christian Resource Centre, 40 Oak Street, Regent Park

date: Friday 20 March, 11:30AM-1:30PM

David Walsh/Mathis Natvik: Carrot Common

David Leinster: Wychwood Barns, Lawrence Heights and Regent Park

Designing for agriculture in uncommon spaces

location: Room 202 Architecture Building, 325 Church Street, Ryerson University

date: Friday 27 March, 11:30AM-1:30PM

Andre Viljoen: CPUL Catalysts- Examples from the UK

Ismael Hautecoeur: Rooftop Project, Montreal

David Garcelon: Fairmont Royal York Hotel

*Sign-up for a free half-hour visit to the Fairmont Royal York Hotel rooftop herb garden/ beehive. 3-tour slots: 2:30-3:00pm; 3:00pm-3:30pm; 3:30pm-4:00pm. Email Jasmine: kwong.jasmine@gmail.com to reserve a spot in the tour.

Designing and planning for agriculture: Examples from the classroom

location: Room 202 (The Pit) Architecture Building, 325 Church Street, Ryerson University]

date: Friday 3 April, 11AM-2PM

Informal presentations of student work from 3 current courses:

Architectural Science, Ryerson U. [Prof.: June Komisar]

Landscape Architecture, SUNY-Syracuse [Prof.: Matthew Potteiger]

Planning, U. at Buffalo [Prof.: Samina Raja]

This lecture series is supported by The Big Carrot, Carrot Cache, and FoodShare

DESIGN EXCHANGE
PROMOTING THE VALUE OF CANADIAN DESIGN

RYERSON UNIVERSITY

