Where inspiration meets impact

About the Program

Explore the ways that literature animates our experience of diverse identities, cultures and time periods. Engage with stories, poems, graphic novels, films, blogs and digital content to develop new perspectives on the complex relationships between the arts and life.

Students in the Bachelor of Arts Honors English degree explore literary and cultural works across a variety of media, genres, cultures, and historical periods. Students develop critical thinking, communication, research and marketable career skills while engaging in the rich, cultural milieu of one of the most cosmopolitan cities in the world.

Program Highlights

"When I accepted my offer to the English BA program at Ryerson, I did not anticipate the breadth of opportunities that I would find. One such opportunity is that in my final year of study I have been working as a Research Assistant in the Centre for Digital Humanities. In my role as R.A. my professor, Dr. Janzen Kooistra, has guided me through a new branch of learning (specifically the digital humanities), which complements my coursework beautifully. I have been able to learn how to digitize printed works, write accessible text to accompany digital images, and become comfortable with coding in the HTML language. I am also able to attend the Digital Humanities Summer Institute in Victoria, B.C., this June as a result of my new learning, and with the help of a grant provided by Ryerson. All of these opportunities at Ryerson will benefit me greatly as I head to law school in the fall. Working among peers in the BA program, students in the Literatures of Modernity MA program, and with dedicated professors, I have gained invaluable research experiences in my time here."

Program Structure

The BA in English consists of 20 English courses (8 required courses and 12 English electives) and 20 other electives (Professionally-Related and Liberal Studies) over four years in the program. In the first year, students gain a broad, interdisciplinary base of knowledge, skills, and methodologies while establishing the basis for study in the English discipline by sharing a common first year with other programs in the Faculty of Arts.

Double major options available after first year: English and History, or English and Philosophy.

Students also have the opportunity to study abroad in the Winter Term of their third year.

Typical First Year

Semester 1 - FALL	Semester 2 - WINTER
Academic Writing and Research - SSH 205	Critical Thinking I - SSH 105
Literatures Across Borders - ENG 110	Introduction to Non-Fiction - ENG 208
In addition to that you must choose 6 Electives (3 each semester) for your first year.

Co-op Option

The English BA (Honours) program has the option for students to join the Faculty of Arts Co-operative Education program. This competitive opportunity allows students who pass the admission process to complete three mandatory career-relevant paid employment experiences in various terms throughout their program for academic credit, and an optional fourth work term. Students must also complete an academic course prior to their first work term, which will provide a foundational understanding of the labour market context while also facilitating the development of skills related to job searches and successful employment. Students apply in the summer between first and second year to join the co-op option in their second year of study.
