WELCOME TO CALE/ACEJ 2026

A quick guide to the conference venue and nearby amenities.

The CALE/ACEJ 2026 conference will take place primarily at the Ted Rogers School of Management (TRSM) at Toronto Metropolitan University. TRSM is situated in the heart of downtown Toronto, giving you plenty of choice for accommodation, restaurants, and activities during your visit.

- TRSM is located at 55 Dundas Street West - on the south side of Dundas Street and east of Bay Street. Please review the TMU campus map for reference. The building is conveniently located next to the CF Toronto Eaton Centre and is easily accessible by public transit.
- All campus buildings require OneCard access. A volunteer will be stationed at the TRSM entrance before the start of each conference day and between scheduled breaks. If you need to access the building outside of these hours, please contact the conference organizers.

Travel

Due to its Canadian focus and limited resources, the conference does not provide documentation (e.g. letters of invitation or certificates of registration/attendance) to assist with visas or other Canadian border/immigration issues for attendees from outside of Canada. International attendees are solely responsible for fulfilling visa/immigration requirements, and they will receive only the same conference documentation and materials provided to all attendees.

Hotel Accommodations

If your academic institution is a member of the Canadian Association of University Business Officers (CAUBO), you may be eligible for preferred room rates for hotels located near the Toronto Metropolitan University campus. The information provided below is a suggested guide only. Toronto Metropolitan University is not responsible for hotel reservations and cannot guarantee room availability or discounted rates. When booking, please ask for the CAUBO university rate. To receive the CAUBO preferred rate, you may be required to present valid employee identification at check-in to verify your institutional affiliation.

Getting Here

The Toronto Transit Commission (TTC) operates a city-wide public transit system that includes buses, subways, and streetcars.

- The main conference venue (Ted Rogers School of Management) is readily accessible by public transit. The closest TTC subway station is TMU station (formerly Dundas station).
- The easiest way to use the TTC is by tapping with a debit/credit card or a Presto Card when you enter a station or board a vehicle. (You can purchase a Presto Card at all subway stations or at any Shoppers Drug Mart.)
- The TTC adult fare (aged 20-64) is $3.30 with Presto/debit/credit or $3.35 with cash. For more information on fares and passes, visit: https://www.ttc.ca/Fares-and-passes
- For information about accessibility on the TTC, visit: https://www.ttc.ca/accessibility
- To plan your travel around the city, you can use Google Maps, which incorporates the TTC into the directions it gives for public transit. You can also download and use a number of transit apps such as Transit Now, CityMapper, and Transit.
