Yes. Accepted applicants will attend orientations at TMU and at the partnering hospitals. You will be notified of the dates of orientation events in advance.

Yes. Successful completion of the PMDip Dietetics will enable you to meet all of the Integrated Competencies for Dietetic Education and Practice (ICDEP), qualify you to obtain a temporary license, write the Canadian Dietitian Registration Exam (CDRE) and if you are successful, become a Registered Dietitian.

How is the program structured?

You will complete four graduate level courses.

FALL	WINTER	SPRING/SUMMER
NC8401 Practicum I	NC8402 Practicum II	NC8403 Practicum III
	NC8300 Population Health Promotion

During the three practicum courses you will be engaged in dietetic practical training through a series of carefully planned rotations. In each rotation, you will be supervised by highly qualified dietitians working in a variety of practice settings.

The NC8300 Population Health Promotion course is offered at TMU. This course integrates a team-based population health placement to provide opportunities for students to meet all competencies in this practice area. Students will work in teams to engage with community partners of interest to develop and deliver nutrition education interventions.

Opportunities to develop and practice additional skills in preparation for dietetic practice will also be provided i.e. counselling for behaviour change, research appraisal etc. Through this course, students can expect to develop collegial relationships through reflective practice activities. This course is offered concurrently with NC8402 Practicum II

What is the cost of the program?

- Anti-virus protection software is available for free for students at: Security Software - Computing and Communications Services - Toronto Metropolitan University \(TMU\)
  - You will need to enter your my.torontomu username and password to access the software. If you have trouble, you can contact Toronto Metropolitan University's Computing and Communications Services (CCS) at 416-979-5000 ext. 556840 or help@torontomu.ca. Please make sure you practice safe computing practices while connected to Toronto Metropolitan University's network. Here is what you can do:
  - Make sure all your computers are running antivirus software, that it is working properly, and that it is up to date. If you recently upgraded to Windows 10 and use Sophos you will have to uninstall Sophos and reinstall it. If you are having problems on a Toronto Metropolitan University computer getting Sophos to work, to update itself, or if Sophos is issuing alerts please call the CCS help desk at extension 6806 or email help@torontomu.ca.
  - Make sure you keep your operating system, browser and other software up-to-date. Software updates are frequently issued to fix security vulnerabilities.
  - Do not open emails or attachments from unknown sources. If you do not recognize the sender, do not open attachments or follow links. If you are inclined to open an attachment on your computer, pause a moment and consider if the attachment is legitimate. Does it come from an email address you recognize and are expecting an attachment from? If not, do not open it. If you must look at an attachment, use a viewer instead of opening it on your computer. For example, if you use your browser to access your Toronto Metropolitan University Gmail account (via gmail.torontomu.ca) clicking on an attachment will show you a preview of the document. A common scam is to send malware disguised as a resume. If you must see the attachment, review the “resume” using Gmail’s preview feature. Do not download and open the attachment.

- Make sure Microsoft office macros are not enabled. If a document or spreadsheet claims, macros must be enabled to view it, do not turn on macros. A recent fraud involves sending fake invoices that claim they cannot be read properly without enabling macros. Don’t fall for it.
- Do not use peer-to-peer or other “file sharing” or “free file download” services to download movies, music, file sharing utilities and so on. If you insist on doing this, do not do it on a Toronto Metropolitan University computer, a computer connected to Toronto Metropolitan University’s network, or a computer that contains or has access to confidential or personal information. A common tactic for spreading malware is to post the malware to file sharing sites and systems and pretend they are movies, music, apps or application files. Do not click on links in emails to download files. If you inadvertently start to download a file, cancel the download or delete the file. Don’t open it.

- Access to specialized software at:

Virtual Applications - Computing and Communications Services - Toronto Metropolitan University \(TMU\)

Students can securely access various licensed software applications without having to install them on their computer. Please visit the website above for more information.
