SKILLS - Baritone Voice (Intermediate)

Tavaree Daniel-Simms (he/him) is a Toronto-based actor eager to immerse himself fully into the film/tv/theatre industry. He plans to tell provocative stories about race, gender, sexuality, and love (among others). A memorable accomplishment is getting into theatre school.

While at XU, Tavaree has undergone a multitude of different instructors and directors. A few special projects include UNTAMED directed by Lisa Karen Cox, ROMEO & JULIET directed by Tim Welham, and GRUESOME PLAYGROUND INJURIES directed by Diana Reis. These projects have opened up Tavaree's heart and hold value as he transitions out of school.

Tavaree would like to give his thanks to all of his acting coaches, his peers, and his unequivocally supportive family. He is ready to find a space in the industry and (hopefully) soar.
